THE DAY OF MEMORIES.

Lo, here the toil-spent soldier makes his bed.
Slow vanishing in Time's dissolving hand;
Love still is warder of our patriot dead,
Once dauntless guardians of a hallowed land.

Nor let the heart, though now but senseless clay,
Be conscious of neglect, lest clay may feel;
What reck's it if it wore the blue or gray,
Or ventured its convictions to conceal?

For now one flag is ours from sea to sea,
And who is manly when a strife is on,
Nor like a slave bends low the suppliant knee,
Forgives unasked when the hot blood is gone.

Ye sleepers 'mid the Southland's tangled brake,
Waiting the call beneath magnolia shade,
The kindly earth has healed your heart's last ache,
Tears have baptized the consecrated spade.

O, month of May, whose sweet wild roses bloom
To make of earth the counterpart of heaven,
Distill your sweetest incense o'er their tomb,
Theirs was more worth than all that wealth has given.

Brave souls who struggling fell where leaden hail
Beat down the serried columns of immortal men,
Sleep on, sleep on, where wars no more assail,
Nor wake to strife the weary denizen.

Returning Spring with tresses wove of flowers
From all that God's conservatories hold,
Dispense the garlands of thy splendid bowers,
And all the dust we loved in life enfold.

Make thou, Dear Sister, these a floral bed,
Thy generous hand is richer for the giving;
It may not move the mute, unfeeling dead,
But it will serve a token from the living.

J. FLANIGAN WAS WITH CHAIN GANG

When James Flanigan was arraigned in court yesterday on the charge of vagrancy, he was at a loss to know what it all meant. He was brought before the court Thursday and pleaded not guilty, but on that day and yesterday he was taken out to the cemetery and put to work with the chain gang, so he concluded that the court had sentenced him to "ten days" without hearing him, notwithstanding his plea of not guilty.

As his name was called yesterday, Flanigan arose and attempted to tell the court that he was not guilty, yet he had already served two days on the chain gang but the court did not hear him. Judge Murphy ordered that the matter be set aside for further consideration; that is, consideration of what the sentence should be, and the man was hurried out to the jail. Before the court adjourned, however, the judge was advised of the peculiar incident and he ordered that Flanigan be released.

The jail was searched from top to bottom Friday morning for Flanigan, but he could not be found, and it was not known what had become of him until the patrol wagon drove in with the chain gang, when it was discovered that Flanigan had begun service. He stated that when they went out with the "gang" he joined them, and supposed, of course, that he had been "railroaded through."

$3.50 RECIPE CURES WEAK MEN ——— FREE

Send Name and Address Today— You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many weak and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and securely. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4429 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

DECORATION DAY PARADE CHANGED

A change has been made in the order of the parade, due to the difficulty of making automobiles go as slowly as the walkers on march. The parade will form, as planned, at the east side of the city hall square. The marchers will pass along Washington to Twenty-second street, up Twenty-second street to Jefferson avenue and out on Jefferson to the cemetery. The automobiles, containing the G. A. R. W. R. C. and Ladies of G. A. R., will turn on Twenty-fifth to Wall, to Twenty-fourth, to Washington, to Twentieth, to the cemetery, where the automobiles will be dismissed and all march to the G. A. CHOIR OF HUNDRED VOICES WILL SING

A special feature of the Weber academy commencement exercises next Wednesday night, will be the presentation of the beautiful cantata "Weep of the Hesperus," by the academy choir of 100 voices and a fifteen-piece orchestra from the school under the direction of Prof. Joseph Ballantyne. The words for this beautiful work are by the immortal Longfellow and the music by Thomas Anderson, a noted English composer.

Mr. Lawrence Greenwell will sing the solos written for baritone and Miss Elsie Shorten the soprano part. Prof. Ballantyne has given much time in the preparation of this work, and is especially proud of the academy chorus, which he says is a close rival to the famous Ogden Tabernacle choir in singing the smaller forms of music.

BAMBERGER LINE HAS ELECTRIC CARS

The Salt Lake & Ogden railway began yesterday the operation of electric cars through to Salt Lake. Twelve trains are being operated between Ogden and Salt Lake on a schedule of one hour and fifteen minutes. The hour service will be given within a short time.

There has been no trouble in the operation of the new cars today, and the service in every respect is reported to be all that could be expected.

Three of the large palatial electric cars have been placed in a train and they have been well filled with passengers during most of the day.

The freight traffic of the road will be by steam for a few months, or until the freight motor cars are received. The freight traffic, however, will be handled on night trains.

The new station at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Twenty-fifth street is ready for occupancy and the ticket office will be transferred to that place this afternoon. Sidney Bamberger, vice-president of the company and one of the consulting engineers, states that while it cannot be hoped to operate the new cars without some difficulty for a short time, yet things are moving along nicely and no serious delays have been occasioned on this, the first day of the new service.
